The Call to Holiness

"The Letter to the Hebrews presents a number of testimonies that encourage us to "run with perseverance the race that is set before us" (12:1). It speaks of Abraham, Sarah, Moses, Gideon and others (cf. 11:1-12:3). Above all, it invites us to realize that "a great cloud of witnesses" (12:1) impels us to advance constantly towards the goal. These witnesses may include our own mothers, grandmothers or other loved ones (cf. 2 Tim 1:5). Their lives may not always have been perfect, yet even amid their faults and failings they kept moving forward and proved pleasing to the Lord. The saints now in God's presence preserve their bonds of love and communion with us. The Book of Revelation attests to this when it speaks of the intercession of the martyrs: "I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God, and for the witness they had borne; they cried out with a loud voice, "O sovereign Lord, holy and true, how long will it be before you judge?" (6:9-10). Each of us can say: "Surrounded, led and guided by the friends of God... I do not have to carry alone what, in truth, I could never carry alone. All the saints of God are there to protect me, to sustain me and to carry me".

The Holy Spirit bestows holiness in abundance among God's holy and faithful people, for "it has pleased God to make men and women holy and to save them, not as individuals without any bond between them, but rather as a people who might acknowledge him in truth and serve him in holiness". In salvation history, the Lord saved one people. We are never completely ourselves unless we belong to a people. That is why no one is saved alone, as an isolated individual. Rather, God draws us to himself, taking into account the complex fabric of interpersonal relationships present in a human community. God wanted to enter into the life and history of a people.

I like to contemplate the holiness present in the patience of God's people: in those parents who raise their children with immense love, in those men and women who work hard to support their families, in the sick, in elderly religious who never lose their smile. In their daily perseverance I see the holiness of the Church militant. Very often it is a holiness found in our next-door neighbors, those who, living in our midst, reflect God's presence. We might call them "the middle class of holiness". Each in his or her own way the Council says. We should not grow discouraged before examples of holiness that appear unattainable. There are some testimonies that may prove helpful and inspiring, but that we are not meant to copy, for that could even lead us astray from the one specific path that the Lord has in mind for us. The important thing is that each believer discern his or her own path, that they bring out the very best of themselves, the most personal gifts that God has placed in their hearts (cf. 1 Cor 12:7), rather than hopelessly trying to imitate something not meant for them (Pope Francis, Apostolic Exhortation Gaudete Et Exultate, nn. 3, 4, 6, 7, 11).

Question: What path does God offer me to live in holiness and reach heaven?

Fr. Marco

Please pray for the Special Intentions of Pope Leo XIV to receive plenary indulgences November 2026:

For the proper use of wealth

Let us pray for the proper use of wealth, that not succumbing to the temptation of selfishness, it may always be put at the service the common good and solidarity of those who have less.

Spousal Sandpaper

"Marriage, like anything of great value, takes faith, hope and a willingness to lose our rough edges"

In the article "Spousal Sandpaper," Stephen Colella explains that marriage is a gift from God that helps both spouses grow in holiness through their differences, challenges, and imperfections. Just as sandpaper smooths rough edges, husbands and wives help one another become better people by practicing patience, humility, forgiveness, and understanding. Disagreements and frustrations are not necessarily signs of a failing marriage but opportunities to strengthen love, build trust, and grow closer to one another.

The author emphasizes that a strong marriage is built through small, everyday acts of kindness, love, and self-sacrifice. By putting their spouse and family before themselves, couples learn to love more deeply and reflect Christ in their relationship. Through prayer, the sacraments, and a willingness to rely on God's grace, spouses can overcome difficulties and allow their imperfections to become opportunities for spiritual growth. Ultimately, marriage is not about finding a perfect partner but about helping one another become holier and growing together in faith and love.
